

What university age students would like to do
along Rt. 66 in Illinois.

Daniel

There are lots of places that university students would enjoy in Illinois along Route 66. To name a few, the Chain of rocks Bridge in Madison is a sight that you must see. This bridge was built for vehicles to cross the Mississippi River. Now you can cross the river on the bridge only by walking or riding bikes. While walking along the bridge you can feel calm and serene while watching the river flow and enjoying the soft breeze. I strongly recommend that you visit this place with a special person because this peaceful atmosphere helps you to have a deep conversation.

The Sears Tower is a place that university students should also visit. At the top of this tower you can experience beautiful night scenery. To the east you can view Lake Michigan and the boats passing along. The tower is so tall that you can view the whole view of Chicago from the observation deck.

In addition, there are lots of restaurants that you can enjoy while driving along the Mother Road. But most of all the Riviera Restaurant in Gardner has the finest food. The Riviera Restaurant also has a unique atmosphere; the interior is decorated like a cave. So people who visit here can have a unique experience.

The Buckingham Fountain is just the place for you to relax and relieve stress. The water rises about 40 meters in the air. At night the fountain lights up with various colors. So the fountain looks fabulous. Also they say that this fountain uses 5700 liters of water every day.

As you can see you can experience unique places in Illinois. I believe since there are many comfortable places that you can sleep, eat and rest, the trip to Illinois will be a great pleasure.
