

St. Louis has the great arch. You can ride to the top of the arch by tram. You can see The Mississippi River, Missouri and Illinois while you are at the summit of the arch. You can also enjoy yourself in the basement of arch by going through the archway museum.

Following the road through Missouri you will have a chance to visit Meramec Caverns. This famous set of caves was a hiding place for the famous bank robber 'Jessie James'. While you are visiting Meramec Caverns, enjoy camping and fishing close to the Cavern area.

Next, you can travel to Devil's Elbow. This is an unincorporated community in Pulaski County on historic Route 66 in Missouri. It is situated on the Big Piney River. Devil's Elbow was named for a particularly bad place in the river known as a 'Devil of an elbow'.

Route 66 in Missouri has unique motels. For example, the Wagon Wheel Motel and Munger Moss Motel. Since there are many historic buildings you can not only travel but also study history while you travel Rt. 66 in Missouri.